Introducing Crosby, the world's first hybrid law firm

Today we're introducing Crosby, a hybrid AI law firm that helps rapidly growing businesses execute faster.

Contracts are connection points. They allow companies to transact with one another and create economic growth. But while every aspect of business has sped up, the way we negotiate contracts hasn't changed in 50 years. It still takes weeks, and sometimes months.

Crosby is building the API for human agreement. We combine the speed and intelligence of AI with the safety of lawyers-in-the-loop to review contracts in under an hour.

Since quietly launching in January, we've reviewed over 1,000 MSAs, DPAs and NDAs for some of the fastest growing companies in history, including Cursor, Clay and UnifyGTM. Speed to execution is our north star, and today our median review time is 58 minutes. GTM teams call Crosby a secret weapon to close deals 80% faster. We're just getting started.

Crosby is a small, talent-dense team, combining lawyers from Harvard, Stanford, and Columbia Law with engineers from Ramp, Vanta, Meta, and Google. We work in-person in New York City.

To scale our team and our ability to serve more clients, we're excited to share that we've raised $5.8m from Sequoia Capital, Bain Capital Ventures and the founders of Ramp, Instacart and Flatiron Health.

- For fast-growing companies looking to execute faster, sign up for Early Access.
- For any Engineers, Legal Experts, or people passionate about Legal, looking to work at the frontier of AI and anthropology, we're hiring.
